Sources of the table were <http://www.infoplease.com/ipa/A0777958.html> , http://www.columbine-angels.com/School_Violence.htm and http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/School_shootings This table is, by no means, a comprehensive list, and is, in fact, probably out-of-date at the time this is published. School shootings are harder to track since they are folded into the statistics for mass shootings.

Incidents included in this table fulfilled the following criteria:

- 1- Any act of violence that resulted in the physical injury and death of any student, teacher, school administrator, school support staff, or visitor, including the perpetrator, to a school while on school grounds, grounds associated with a school (off-campus housing) or while at a school function not on school grounds;
- 2- Only shootings were included;
- 3- There had to be an injury and/or fatality;
- 4- No connection or previous issue was necessary;
- 5- Settings span from day care to university;
- 6- Having a specific cause was seen as irrelevant, since the act of violence associated with school was deemed traumatic;
- 7- I deliberately do not name the perpetrator(s); and
- 8- I arbitrary begin the timeline with a school shooting in my own city, the massacre of fourteen women at the École Polytechnique.
